

Alli Gamache
Principal
Horace Mitchell Primary School
Kittery School District

Hello! My name is Alli Gamache and I am the principal of Mitchell Primary School. This is my 3rd year as Principal of this great little school and prior to that, I was an Assistant at both Shapleigh and Mitchell. One of my favorite things about working in Kittery is this small community that comes together to take care of each other. This is so important now more than ever before!

I grew up in central Massachusetts. I spent many of my summers in Maine as my grandparents have a camp up near Baxter State Park. This time in Maine caused me to look at colleges in Maine. My undergraduate degree was from the University of New England. While there, I played basketball and fell more in love with Maine, knowing that I wanted to stay here after graduating. My career began in Old Orchard Beach where I was a teacher for six years. I taught 4th grade, 5th grade as well as being an interventionist for both math and reading. During that time I got my Masters in Educational Leadership from the University of Southern Maine, which brought me here to Kittery.

When not at school, I have many things that keep me busy. I have 2 nieces and a nephew that I love to spend time with along with the rest of my family. I like to bike, hike, read and spend as much time outside as possible each season. Hopefully, we will get some snow to be able to snowshoe and ski this winter!

Kittery has a very special place in my heart. The community support for the schools and students is incredible. I am proud and honored to be able to say that I work for the Kittery School District!
